CRITIC OF BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS—Vic Charlo, a Flathead Indian who has long been a critic of the BIA, speaks here tonight.

Vic Charlo Will Speak

Vic Charlo, Flathead Indian who has been an outspoken critic of federal Indian policy, will speak in the UC Ballroom tonight at 8:15. The title of his speech is "The Buffalo Can Come Back."

Mr. Charlo served two years with the Office of Economic Opportunity as Assistant Community Action Director on the Flathead Reservation. He has worked also with the Upward Bound program on the UM campus.

He is a member of the Coalition of American Indian Citizens and was in Washington, D.C., last summer with the Poor People's Campaign as the Indian Coordinator of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. He is a former Gonzaga and UM student.

Nixon Will Report on Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to report to the nation tomorrow night "on the prospects of peace in Vietnam." He is not expected to announce any major breakthrough in the Paris talks or any U.S. troop withdrawals.

President Nixon conferred yesterday with the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton Abrams, who flew to Washington Sunday for a two-day round of consultations.

According to presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, the President's talk with Abrams was a general review and not a special discussion of possible troop withdrawals.

Pantzer Says U Helps Solve Drug Problems

President Robert T. Pantzer said Saturday that the University is a forerunner in solving drug abuse problems through education.

President Pantzer, speaking in a press conference at the UC before about 30 newsmen, said the University has sponsored seminars on drugs for high school teachers and counselors and will offer a course in the use and misuse of narcotics this fall.

The press conference was held in conjunction with a seminar for newsmen sponsored by the UM School of Journalism.

Two professors in the UM School of Pharmacy have been traveling throughout the state giving lectures on the drug problems through the UM Speakers Bureau.

President Pantzer said that UM was the first Montana college to issue administrative policy on drug use on campus. The illegal use of drugs is grounds for suspension from the University.

He said there is very little use of "hard" narcotics among UM students, although many students smoke marijuana.

"All kinds of students have used it (marijuana), most don't use it regularly, and most used it while in high school or even junior high," President Pantzer said.

Concerning the decision to conduct courses in ethnic studies, the president said that the Black Studies program at UM was adopted not because there was a black problem in Montana, but a white problem. The course was designed to benefit blacks, but will probably benefit whites more, he said.

Negroes and Indians are "lost within their own country," President Pantzer said, and it is about time the whites learn about people of other races.

Mr. Pantzer said he received several letters calling him a "nigger lover" after he announced the adoption of the Black Studies program.

"Montana is almost ready to join the rest of the nation," the president said.

Bruce W. Barton, chairman of the Division of Art at Ohio State University, has been appointed chairman of the UM Art Department, according to Charles W. Bollen, dean of the UM School of Fine Arts.

Rudy Autio will continue as acting chairman until Mr. Barton assumes his duties in September.

Mr. Barton, an award-winning painter, has headed Ohio State's five-campus Division of Art since last year. Prior to accepting that position, has was assistant to the director of the School of Art.

Mr. Barton's oil paintings have won prizes at national and international exhibitions. He has had one-man shows in California, Texas, Washington and Kansas.

He is author of the textbook, "The Discreet Context and Other Notions," and has co-authored a series of film strips dealing with art education.

Mr. Barton worked in San Diego in a community enterprise project producing motion pictures, film strips, study guides and overhead projection transparencies for San Diego industries. He has also served as art director for the Boeing Co. in Seattle.

Mr. Barton received his bachelor of fine arts degree from San Francisco Art Institute and earned his master's from San Diego State College.

Draft Seminars Set by DECC

Jeff Miller, one of the senior draft counselors for the Draft Education and Counseling Center (DECC), will conduct the first of three draft counseling seminars tonight at 8 p.m. at the UCCF house, 430 University Ave.

Miller said that the seminars, held every Tuesday night for the next three weeks, will prepare interested persons for pre-counseling service to DECC. He said everyone is invited to attend but persons interested in becoming a counselor will have to pay $5 for the books "The Draft," "Handbook For Conscientious Objectors" and "Guide to the Draft."

Miller said persons attending the seminars will not become qualified as draft counselors, but as pre-counselors.

Partly Cloudy

Partly cloudy weather is predicted for today and tomorrow. The chance of isolated showers over the mountains today and tonight is 20 per cent.

The high temperature forecast for today is 80 degrees and the low tonight is predicted to be 40 degrees.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts cooler weather with a 30 per cent chance of showers for tomorrow.

Presidents Decide to Have Uniform, Early Closing Date

Spring quarter 1971 may end during the first week in June, President Robert T. Pantzer told the Montana Kaimin last week.

The six presidents of Montana University System decided to establish a common closing date for all units at a meeting in Billings last week, Mr. Pantzer said. He explained that they approved an earlier closing date to make it easier for students to get summer jobs.

In the past, the university units have maintained separate closing dates. Spring quarter at UM usually has ended during the second week in June. This year the quarter will end June 15.

Registrars and admissions officers of the six units will now decide on a specific closing date for 1971 and announce it next fall, the president said.

He said that to offset the earlier closing date, the six units will have to institute an earlier opening date, shorter orientation week or shorter vacation periods.

Board of Regents Grant 28 Faculty Promotions

Twenty-eight UM faculty members have been promoted for the 1969-70 academic year. Promotions are granted by the State Board of Regents from recommendations by President Pantzer.

Faculty members promoted from associate professor to professor are Hubert R. Breuninger, accounting and finance; Butler R. Eitel, music; Larry M. Ellison, law; Clarence C. Bordon, botany; R. Wayne Pace, speech communication; John A. Peterson, mathematics and computer science; Harlan C. Riese, education; Arnold J. Silverman, geology; William G. Stoner, education; John J. Taylor, microbiology, and John E. Van de Wetering, history.

Those promoted from assistant professor to associate professor are Paul B. Alexander, geography; Mark J. Behan, botany; Richard W. Behan, forestry; William B. Evans, history; Chris Field, geography; Frederick L. Gerlach, forestry; H. Duane Hampton, history; John T. Harris, wildlife management; Mason E. Henderson, mathematics; Robert W. Lange, forestry; William M. Manning, music; Keith A. McDuffie, foreign languages; and George F. Votruba, mathematics.

Ulysses S. Doss was promoted from instructor of humanities to associate professor.

Lawrence E. Barnsness, English and R. Patrick Mallory, library sciences, were promoted from instructors to assistant professors.

William G. Melton Jr. was promoted from graduate assistant in geology to lecturer.

The Buffalo Can Come Back

The last example of "red power" Montanans have seen occurred when George Armstrong Custer and 276 U.S. cavalrymen found out they were no match for about 4,000 Indians, at the battle of the Little Big Horn on June 25, 1876. Since then, however, Uncle Sam has kept the Indians down on the reservation.

But, after nearly 93 years, the Indians are going to try for a comeback. Montana's Indians are becoming increasingly aware of their needs, and are finally beginning to mobilize as a group to assert themselves, as the few UM students who did bother to take time out to see some of the Indian Days speakers and panelists discovered.

"We're working to make people 'Think Indian,'" one speaker told the audience. And, apparently, the effort is meeting with success, since hundreds of Indians from 8 to 80 attended the conference held here May 1 to 3, which was solely intended to convince the participants to "Think Indian."

Although many of the speakers and panelists were excellent, and their speech especially "relevant" to young Montanans, very few UM students even bothered to find out what the convention was about.

Rather than turn a deaf ear to what is happening on the reservations, as whites have done to the blacks in the ghetto, Montanans should make an effort to keep in touch. Two alternatives have been proposed to bridge the gap between the two cultures—by assimilation and adjustment, as Rep. Ben Reifel, R-S.D., told the conference, or by "thinking Indian," and establishing a "red power" bloc, as Indian leaders like Vic Charlo advocate.

One way or the other, the Indian and "The Buffalo Can Come Back," and are going to come back. Tonight in the University Center Mr. Charlo will explain how he would like to see this done. Forget what you had planned, and, for once, see something "relevant."

Music Lover Berates Administration for Dance Cancellation

To the Kaimin:

People like music. May has turned on to being a fine and beautiful month. Canned Heat, Initial Shock, and Dawning of Aquarius have come to sooth the students' fevered minds and people can be happy. Impromptu concerts in the oval, fighting disagreeable weather, have shown the spirit. The bands want to play and people want to listen.

There are an awful lot of people digging the music, that is really free. But sometimes you have to work for what you want. Pitifully little has been said about the canceled rock festival. Some people even got off their butts and voted in the student elections. It can be done, get some people thinking, talk about it, do something about it. A few of us have been thinking about it and we don't like it. A week ago Wednesday, Pantzer told a group of us at the Lutheran Center that public feeling hadn't had anything to do with the cancellation of Super Secret; they were remodeling the Field House.

Friday, the Kaimin quoted George Mitchell, UM administration vice president, "It would be less than realistic to completely ignore the statements of friends,

Bill Introduced to Change CO Rulings

WASHINGTON (CPS) — Congressman Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., has introduced legislation which calls for "selective" conscientious objection to particular wars, and for a "second chance" for draft resisters who have gone to jail or left the country.

The "second chance" legislation would permit persons subject to the draft the opportunity to submit material to his local board to substantiate his CO claim under the following circumstances:

- If he has received his induction notice;
- If he has left the country to avoid the draft and prosecution and then returns;
- If he is serving time in jail for draft refusal;
- If he undergoes prosecution in the armed forces for nonviolent refusal of service.

In Mr. Koch's speech introducing the bill, he asked Congress to "take a major step in bringing this country together again. Let us give those who have exiled themselves or gone to jail out of conscience, the opportunity of coming back into the mainstream of American life."

Mr. Koch's bill would be retroactive for the specifically outlined circumstances listed above. It does not change the procedure under which the Selective Service operates, nor does it change any criteria that a local board may use for determining CO status.

The burden of proof for the resister's "second chance" CO application still lies with the applicant. He must show (to the same people who drafted him in the first place) that his reason for leaving the country or going to jail was conscientious objection to war, or a particular war, as specified in the bill.

Californian Presents Another Viewpoint Of Grape Laborers' Boycott in Delano

To the Kaimin:

This letter is only to add a few more facts to the report by John Bugez, "Delano---Scene of Grape Boycott."

The income of $2,024 annually for a grape picker is below national poverty standards. This amount of money is a wage for work done in not over a three month period. Sometimes in a family every member over seven will pick grapes (under 18 a special employment card may be obtained for farm work). The rest of the year these people will live off of the welfare of the state of California.

Mexicans are traditionally farmers. The grape pickers are merely continuing part of their heritage. Most of them will not take a different job to obtain more money to buy their own farm.

Most of the cities in the San Joaquin Valley began as a depot belonging to the Southern Pacific Railroad. The cities grew on each side of the tracks. When moving into a town people usually live in a neighborhood where they are comfortable. This began a separation of "west side" and "east side." The Armenians of Fresno were the ethnic group living in the "west side" along with the Mexicans. They lived with people from their home country to establish roots and private security, as would most people in a new situation. Armenians have acquired more land and money during the last generation than the Mexicans because of their hard work and personal initiative, not welfare and boycotts.

'Tip Keglers Win State Crown

Team number one of the Grizzlies took first place honors in the Montana State Inter Collegiate Bowling Tournament at the UC Lanes this weekend with 5513 total pins, 300 more than its nearest opponent.

The UM number two team was second at 5206; Montana State University, Bozeman, third at 5203; College of Great Falls, fourth at 5187; and Northern Montana College, Havre, fifth at 4894.

The all events class trophies were given to Jerry Richardson, CGF, with 2296; Ben Nicols, UM, 2213 and Ron Hansen, UM, 2203. High game trophy went to Hansen, UM, with a 246 and the high series trophy went to Richardson, CGF, with 628.

In the singles event, Ken Larson and Richardson, both of Great Falls, tied at 627 for first and second. Jim Farley, UM, was third at 596 and Terry Wahl, UM, 585, for fourth.

Winners in the doubles event were Richardson and Anderson, CGF, with a total of 1225; Loy and Kamerman, MSU, second with 1179; and Hansen and Herning, UM, third with 1093.

Trophies were also presented to winners in events during conference play, Jim Sulgrove, UM, won both the singles trophy and the high average trophy with a 187. The doubles were won by John Olson and Barry Zanto, NMC. The Bruins team took first in the conference team event.

Jim Sulgrove, UM, was elected president of the Montana State Inter Collegiate Bowling Organization for the 1969-70 year in the election of officers held after the tournament. Richardson, CGF, is first vice president; Duane Sloan, NMC, second vice president and Maury Hamill, MSU, is secretary.

Bulletin

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—The Montana Grizzlies lost both ends of a doubleheader yesterday against Weber State by scores of 5-1 and 7-3.

Steve Gardner hit fifth inning homers in both games to help Weber bring its conference mark to 8-2 while Montana dropped to 1-5.

Saturday the Bruins dropped a pair to Idaho State at Pocatello by scores of 8-1 and 9-1.

Bruin Golf Team Seeks Sixth Consecutive Title

The UM golf team will seek its sixth consecutive conference title here Friday and Saturday in the Big Sky Championships at the University Golf Course after downing MSU 12-6 on the road Saturday.

Rick Carpenter, UM, fired a three-under-par 68 to capture medalist honors. Nick Fullerton MSU, was second in the meet with a 69.

In a four-way meet Friday afternoon, UM beat Weber 12½-5½, Montana State 16-2, and Idaho State 15½-2½. In other pairings, Weber beat MSU 9½-8½, Montana State tied Idaho State 9-9 and Weber downed Idaho State 12½-5½.

There was a three-way tie for medalist honors. Rick Carpenter, UM, Nick Fullerton, MSU, and Ken Pettingil, Weber, all shot 71.

Spike Daugherty was second with a 72.

The lineup for the Big Sky meet will be Carpenter, Glen Wysel, Daugherty, Dick Kuhl, Skip Kopri- vica and Steve Sullivan.

Canoe crews are limited to two persons. Any size kayak is permitted. No sailboats, flat-bottom boats or motorized crafts are allowed.

Only women may compete in the powder puff raft class.

Registration for the race closes at 5 p.m., May 16. Entry blanks are available at the Chamber of Commerce, 207 E. Main.

Prizes will be awarded at the winners' stand where the race ends, in front of the Milwaukee Railroad Depot.
